Christiansburg Man Charged with Malicious Wounding

Date: November 1, 2013

(Christiansburg, VA) - A Christiansburg man has been charged with malicious wounding stemming from an incident that occurred this past March.

Allen Jay Dickerson, 47, allegedly got into a domestic dispute with another adult male around 11:30 p.m. on March 23 at TJ's Bar & Grill, located in the 2700 block of Roanoke St.

The domestic dispute allegedly culminated in a physical altercation and Dickerson stabbed the other man once in the abdomen.

The victim was taken by a family member to Carilion New River Valley Medical Center for treatment and police were then contacted.

Dickerson was not charged until lab results on physical evidence retrieved during the investigation were returned.

Dickerson was arrested and charged this past Monday. He was released from the Montgomery County Jail after posting a $5,000 secured bond.

Dickerson is scheduled to be arraigned on November 8 and 8:30 a.m.

If convicted of malicious wounding, Dickerson faces a maximum penalty of 20 years in prison.
